14th December, 2016

5pm: 'Searching for Camelot'

Emeritus Professor Peter Field,

School of English Literature, Honorary President of the International Arthurian Society

6.30pm: Opening of The Stephen Colclough
Centre for the History and Culture of the Book,

Professor Carol Tully, Pro-Vice-Chancellor of Bangor University, and Fellow of the Learned Society of Wales

The Stephen Colclough Centre for the History and Culture of the Book was founded by our late and much-missed colleague, Dr Stephen Colclough, and is dedicated to continuing the work that he began in this field at Bangor. Working in collaboration with colleagues at Bangor and beyond, the Centre's purpose is twofold: to enhance and broaden our understanding of the book's place within cultural, social and economic practices, and to develop our research into the material book as cultural commodity, conveyer of knowledge, and object of desire.

LOCATION: The Shankland Library, Main Arts Building, Bangor University at 5pm

Refreshments will be provided

COLCLOUGH AR HANES A

DIWYLLIANT Y LLYFR

14 Rhagfyr, 2016

5pm: 'Searching for Camelot'

Yr Athro Emeritws Peter Field,

Ysgol Llenyddiaeth Saesneg, Llywydd Anrhydeddus y Gymdeithas Arthuraidd Ryngwladol

6.30pm: Agor Canolfan Stephen Colclough ar Hanes a Diwylliant y Llyfr,

Yr Athro Carol Tully, Dirprwy Is-Ganghellor Prifysgol Bangor a Chymrawd o
Gymdeithas Ddysgedig Cymru

Sefydlwyd Canolfan Stephen Colclough ar Hanes a Diwylliant y Llyfr gan ein diweddar gydweithiwr, Dr Stephen Colclough, sydd wedi gadael bwlch mawr ar ei ôl, a nod y ganolfan yw parhau â'r gwaith a ddechreuodd yn y maes hwn ym Mangor. Gan weithio mewn cydweithrediad â chydweithwyr ym Mangor a thu hwnt, mae diben deublyg i'r Ganolfan: cryfhau ac ehangu ein dealltwriaeth o le'r llyfr mewn meysydd diwylliannol, cymdeithasol ac economaidd, a datblygu ein hymchwil i'r llyfr yn gyffredinol fel nwydd diwylliannol, cludydd gwybodaeth a rhywbeth i'w chwenychu.

LLEOLIAD: Llyfrgell Shankland, Prif Adeilad y
